

GREAT GENDER-RESPONSIVE
RESEARCHERS EQUIPPED FOR AGRICULTURAL TRANSFORMATION

GREAT NEWS

September 2016

GREAT Theme 1, Roots, Tubers, Bananas is underway in Uganda

September 12 marks the inception of the first GREAT training. Stay tuned to our website and social media for updates

Participants at the pilot GREAT training, 2016 July in Kampala

Margaret Mangheni, Makere

Welcome to GREAT, from Margaret and Hale

As co-leaders of the GREAT project, we are excited to inform you that the GREAT Theme 1 course is underway. The GREAT vision is based on a premise: That agricultural research projects are often designed with little consideration of how the research outputs, technologies and interventions will impact men and women.

University (left) and Hale Tufan,
Cornell University.

Read more

Meet the participants of Roots, Tubers, and Bananas

Thirty-three researchers, sixteen trainers from twelve countries, eleven teams, from four continents. They are GREAT's first training cohort.

Read more

Gender Resources

GREAT is proud to announce a searchable online resource for finding journal articles, book chapters, toolkits, and more related to gender responsive training in Africa and around the world. We will keep this growing so make sure to check back often.

Learn more

Please visit GREAT's website and follow us on social media as we begin our first training. Our next training, Gender Responsive Grains Breeding, will start in September 2017, details will be available in early 2017 on our website and through this newsletter.

Thank you,
Margaret Mangheni and Hale Tufan

Forward this email

STAY CONNECTED

